Items 4D and 4E were heard simultaneously.

Commissioner Douglas said a few weeks ago representatives from Sawgrass Mills Mall were at the Commission Meeting seeking support for license plate readers to be installed at the mall. That was the first time he heard about it. After a robust discussion, the Commission said they wanted to see them move forward. He learned late last week this item was coming back to the Commission, and he thought it would have taken more time to fully develop. He got a document related to automated license plate readers and it said that Sunrise was the only city that did not have them deployed. He asked if the City owned any.

Acting Police Chief Ransone responded yes, they owned some, but they were not functional.

Commissioner Douglas said he heard that they own some trailers and they had been deployed through Vector that does some work for the mall, were those license plate readers.

Acting Police Chief Ransone replied there were two purchases, one in 2006 and 2010. Some separate purchases through a UASI grant were made later.

Commission Douglas asked about previous agreements.

Acting Police Chief Ransone said they were entered into by Chief Brooks.

Discussion continued regarding the storage of data and the effectiveness of license plate readers.

Acting Police Chief Ransone said the MOU before the Commission was analytic. For the hot files, it required an MOU between the Police Department and Panama City Beach. The alert aspect would not take place until MOU is approved and signed with Panama City Beach.

Commissioner Douglas asked how this was different from what they did 10 years ago.

Acting Police Chief Ransone said he did not know, there was no data on it.

Commissioner Douglas felt there was a need to develop this further and should not have come to the Commission with the speed it did.

Mayor Ryan said with respect to license plate readers, this was not new or novel technology.

Acting Police Chief Ransone confirmed.

Mayor Ryan said that Sunrise is the only municipality with non-functioning license plate readers. He went through the list of municipalities and how many readers they had. He asked if the Police Department had to rely on license plate readers from other jurisdictions to solve crimes.

Acting Police Chief Ransone responded in the affirmative.

Discussion took place regarding crimes and how they are solved without license plate readers.

Acting Chief Ransone said it involved staff working many hours. There were two components, the analytics and the hot list or the alert. He explained the process with the hot files.

Mayor Ryan asked Chief Ransone if he felt this an invaluable tool and a force multiplier.

Acting Chief Ransone replied yes.

Mayor Ryan asked when discussions began about license plate readers.

Acting Chief Ransone said about five years ago. More recently, these conversations began in April.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said he brought up license plate readers previously. He sees officers from Lauderhill and thanks them for the use of their license plate readers. Lauderhill approved a bond to purchase them. It was sad that Sunrise had readers that were not functional, and nothing was fixed and used. He was happy to hear the details about how effective they were in law enforcement.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto agreed with what Commissioner Douglas said at the last meeting, about not wanting to just have readers at the mall, but doing it for the entire city. He was glad the mall initiated this conversation, and they were willing to pay for this. He thought the Mayor and Commission had the obligation to protect visitors and residents. He knew they were very expensive. He asked if license plate readers could be affixed to the red-light cameras. He does not know if that company provided tag readers. If they did, the city could roll out additional tag readers. He spoke about mutual aid and reiterated his support for this program.

Acting Chief Ransone said they were in early conversations with Verra Mobility. They tentatively agreed to install license plate readers when their contract expires in June 2024, with a new three-year agreement.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch thanked the Chief for the education on license plate readers. This issue before them was about allowing Sawgrass to have them.

David Gott, General Manager of Sawgrass Mills, said they wanted the license plate readers because it gives the police one more tool in their tool box to assist with crime.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch asked about accessing data.

Mr. Gott said there would be no access. Even police will have to fill out a form and have probable cause.

Commissioner Guzman was supportive, Sawgrass needed to monitor this. The City does as well, and hopefully it can be discussed again soon.

Mayor Ryan said these are individual crimes, and families want crimes solved as quickly as possible. He asked the Chief if he supported license plate readers for the entire city, and what the time table would be.

Acting Chief Ransone responded they had been working internally on this. By late this week or early next week they can have a staff study ready for review.

Commissioner Douglas said given the advanced work that had been done on this, why was this being done in a piece meal fashion. It leaves open the question of why we are carving out something for a particular entity. It seemed someone with muscle and money was able to get to a commissioner to get this on an agenda.

Acting Chief Ransone said the license plate reader discussion dated back to 2006 when they purchased mobile devices that failed. They had internal discussions on this over the years. He was unsure why they did not come sooner.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said he brought this item up multiple times to Chief Rosa and did not know why he did not bring it forward.

Commissioner Douglas said they had multiple policy positions and had private conversations with the charter officers. As he saw happen before, if he went about a policy position he would like to pursue, no one can stop you from raising it. He does not think it is fair to go back and say that. Anyone could have brought this forward. It is no secret what he thinks about these intrusive things. If they were talking about a broad policy, then bring it forward. He asked that this was done properly. It was called good policy and it should not be piecemeal.

Mayor Ryan asked if this was a carve out of a program to only focus on the mall.

Acting Chief Ransone said it was not.

Mayor Ryan asked if he knew why Chief Rosa did not bring this program forward or meet about why he could not.

Acting Chief Ransone did not.

8. Commission/Mayor Reports

Deputy Mayor Scuotto wished everyone a happy holiday.

Commissioner Guzman asked about fences.

City Manager Mark Lubelski responded it is on the list and should be coming before the City Commission soon.

Commissioner Guzman requested an update on Veterans Park.

City Manager Mark Lubelski reported the park is under construction. Substantial completion is scheduled for June or July.

Commissioner Guzman asked about Oscar Wind Park and why it is taking so long.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said they are working on it, and it is very involved.

Commissioner Guzman said Plantation reached out about doing a food distribution for food insecurity. They do this monthly

Mayor Ryan said they need information on what they were doing. He asked if she could get more details.

Commissioner Guzman reported this past month she invited several elected officials from the state and county for a tour of the new building, and thanked all who were able to attend. She felt it was important for them to see the great things that were happening.

Commissioner Douglas spoke about the holiday tree lighting. It was well attended. He thinks they could do a bit more in the area of entertainment. When it was over he saw people hanging around in the hot chocolate line. He saw people playing in the grass at the amphitheater. He felt it was a missed opportunity.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said there is just no room right now.

Commissioner Douglas estimated the construction is going to be another 24 months.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said staff is already engaged and looking to do more in the interim before the amphitheater is done.

9. City Manager's Report

(A) Notification of Emergency Action

Notification of emergency action under the City Manager's authority. City Manager Mark Lubelski.

City Manager Mark Lubelski advised on Friday, Thursday, November 9, 2023, the City Manager authorized the procurement of emergency repair services, under section 5-173(c)(1) of the City of Sunrise Code of Ordinances, to make emergency repairs to the Civic Center waterslide, which was in the process of being repaired. The original repairs to the waterslide had been planned and competitively bid, which was less than $25,000.00. Based upon discussions with the Director of Leisure Services and the Assistant Procurement Manager, the required repair services were a matter of immediate concern for the public health, safety and welfare, as they were necessary to return the public waterslide to normal operation. Repair work was already underway for the waterslide; however, the additional unexpected work was required to ensure the timely repair and safe operation of the equipment. The additional work by the contractor in the amount of $4,800.00 caused the value of the contract to increase to $26,600.00, which would typically require City Commission approval. Due to the concern for public health, safety, and welfare, the additional repairs in the amount of $4,800.00 were approved by the City Manager under section 5-173(c)(1) of the City of Sunrise Code of Ordinances. At this time, all the work has been completed and the waterslide has resumed normal operation.

City Manager Mark Lubelski. Shannon Ley, Director of Community Development. (First Reading CCM 11/14/2023, Passed 4-0 Kerch Absent.)

MOTION A motion to approve Item 12B made by Deputy Mayor Scuotto was seconded by Commissioner Guzman.

Mayor Ryan opened a public hearing.

Norma Williams, President of Hampton Lakes Home Association, said she was in attendance with her board of directors tonight. They appreciated that this was an aggressive commission and they were glad they were putting this forward. She asked what the association would now be allowed to have. Previously Commissioner Douglas said he lived in Key West and had metal roofs.

Mayor Ryan said staff will have to speak with her and also start educating homeowner associations on what they can do.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said the item identifies two main points, it revised roof material administratively. It also allowed metal tiles in all single and multi-family zoning districts. They will have a list of homeowner associations and do some outreach, and to residents as well.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said there are already single-family residents that have been doing this, and wondered how they were approved.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said in 1990's they had a code amendment for barrel tile roofs and certain properties could have metal roofs.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto asked if there was a color palette for the metal tiles, since there was an enormous amount of colors to choose from. Would the homeowner associations dictate the color palette, or will the Commission dictate the color palette.

Ms. Williams said they had some to consider. There were many different gages, patterns and colors. She asked what the City would allow them to use and still be in compliance.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said staff would sit down with the representative from Hampton Lakes to make sure they understand the provision of the ordinance. He said

City Commission Meeting
December 12, 2023

residents in a homeowner association would be governed by their color selection. They do not have any color palette at this time.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto asked if some of their residents had shingle and want to change to metal, would they allow that. Would their by-laws be amended that if someone was going to change their roof, they had to go to metal.

Ms. Williams said no they do not have that provision.

Commissioner Douglas asked if there was a potential to revisit this ordinance later with provisions for gage, and more specific information. It cannot be a free for all. They had to be the ones to provide that guidance. Like they set color palettes for homes, they had to set it for this as well. One of the reasons they implemented the barrel tile, was to create some uniformity. They do not come in a wide variety of colors. In this case there are ten shades of every color, and primarily manufactured to order. He is glad the baseline ordinance is in place, but it should be revisited soon.

Mayor Ryan suggested if Hampton Lakes was ready to go, they should meet with staff to make sure you knew the process.

Ms. Williams stated they are ready to go.

Tyler Elmore, resident of Hampton Lakes, addressed safety concern in Hampton Lakes, entering from Weston Road. Absence of a dedicated turn signal increases potential for accident. It is a practical measure for everyone navigating the roads. They have initiated a petition with 123 signatures who echo this sentiment. It was entering Hampton Lakes from Weston Road, southbound. It is crucial to acknowledge the demographics of Hampton Lakes because it was home to many new drivers. He urged the City Commission to recognize the importance of this.

Mayor Ryan said he was the second young person to come forward to address safety issues at an intersection. You see something that needs to change and you came with courage and delivered an important public safety message. Staff will work with you directly. They are going to need your help, these are county roads and they put the signals in, but with your help and the Commission joining you, they will approach the county about this concern. He will learn this process and see that sometimes you need to come and advocate. He hoped that Tyler would continue to play a roll in this.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said they do not get out to the area south of SR 84 too much and it was good to hear from the residents tonight. The roofs and now this. He spoke about certain milestones that needed to be met. Now that there is interest from others in the neighborhood they knew about it, and would follow up. He thanked Tyler for coming forward.

Commissioner Douglas said he was proud of him. He was getting a great civics lesson, intergovernmental relations. You were at the City Commission meeting advocating for something broader than your association and then you hear there is another layer of government, the county. They work closely together. As leaders, they can advocate. They ultimately have the decision-making power, as they had the decision-making power for the roofs. There were layers. The Commission was happy that he came tonight to practice his advocacy. There was a process they engage in and he would learn that with working with staff.

Commissioner Kerch said he was impressed and they would be happy to work with him on this. He told Tyler to keep up the good work, and chase that dream because he would get it.

Commissioner Guzman said she was huge on advocacy, especially youth. It was important that kids like you show you can get things done. She worked with a youth program, and of all the kids she has encountered, he showed great leadership and courage. It was natural to him. She commended Tyler for being there. She suggested when he was a junior or senior in high school he would be eligible for the Sunrise Leadership Academy. Also, the Explorers program starts when you're a freshman. She commended his parents as well.

Mayor Ryan said when there was talk about eliminating school resource officers, his daughter and her classmates did petitions and came and spoke in front of the City Commission. Going forward, think about who you could talk to about issues. He wanted him to be engaged. He asked Tyler not leave without contacting staff and keep in touch with the Commission.

Mayor Ryan closed the public hearing.

(A) Chief of Police Position
City Commission discussion and/or action regarding the Chief of Police position.

MOTION A motion to discuss Item 16A made by was seconded by. Sc/K

Commissioner Douglas said that Commissioner Kerch was not at the last Commission Meeting. Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch and Deputy Mayor Scuotto had made it clear what their position was. At the last meeting Mayor Ryan seemed to change his feeling about going out for a search. Not everything is fit for public consumption when talking about law enforcement. A lot has been invested in this process, there are applicants. At this point he was prepared to not do this process and move to nominate Acting Police Chief Ransone as Chief.

MOTION Commissioner Mayor Douglas moved to terminate the police chief selection process and nominate Acting Police Chief Daniel Ransone as Police Chief was seconded by Commissioner Guzman.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch said he has done a good job.

Commissioner Douglas respected his forthrightness. He stated what his position was and stuck with it. Others were a more malleable. Their opinions shift with the wind or day of the week. He was told that he hates people and attacks people's career. His judgement was not up for a democratic vote. It would be hypocritical like the four people at the time they go out and expand the pool of candidates was an anti-Ransone move. That was a tainted pool. He did not know who was compromised on this Commission. The pool has been cleared.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch suggested they not turn this next hour and a half into a big show. He respected the right that Commissioner Douglas wanted to go out.

Commissioner Guzman said that going back to when all this started, she was glad that it went in the route that it did. Since Acting Police Chief Ransone was in the position, she had seen some positive changes and things that should have been done a long time ago. She had more to say, but will talk with him personally about it. The candidates that it was narrowed down to were very good candidates. She was confident they were doing the right thing.

Mayor Ryan did not lose an appetite for the process. He reviewed every video answer in their entirety. He learned things about Mr. Swisher in what a chief should be, and him sharing that taught him a lot about what modern police departments should be. He took this process seriously. He wanted to be clear, he was ready to continue to proceed with the process. He read and tried to visualize if Mr. Swisher was chief what it would be like. He thanked him. Mayor Ryan was very comfortable with Chief Ransone. What they saw over the last few months and tonight answering difficult questions, he appreciated his engagement. He has brought more in reporting in what have historically seen. He had support from officers and the department. Mayor Ryan was prepared to support this tonight.

Commissioner Douglas said when this process started almost a year ago, long before it came to Chief Ransone and three other people to be chief, he reviewed the resumes and work experience. He believed one of the things he said when this first started was the lack of depth, not having adequate experience to ascend to the next level. Considering some of those people who may have been leaving because of the drop did not mean they were not qualified. They lost the former chief and deputy chief who both retired. The current deputy chief is about to leave because of the drop. One of the tasks before Chief Ransone, based on the drop, will be to provide the commission to not have to go through this agonizing process again. To have succession planning in place. He has the long view on this, how he sees the organization and how it functions for the next ten years. They were going to ask for his help in preparing the next set of leaders. Despite it being an uncomfortable process, he feels Chief Ransone has benefited from it.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto congratulated Chief Ransone. It was very interesting to watch the videos of the other four candidates. He addressed Mr. Swisher, who was present. He listed several Fort Lauderdale Police Officers that spoke highly of him. He said Mr. Ransone truly stepped up over the past few months. When he first got elected, when he was 29 years old, he did not have any depth of the city, he did not know how the departments worked. Sometimes you hit the ground running, sometimes it was a learning experience. In the Police field someone started as an officer and moved up the ranks, which gave a huge depth of experience. He thanked everyone that submitted for the position. There were a lot of people that have moved up in the City. Sometimes it takes time to get experience. He thanked employees for sacrificing and moving up the ladder. Some did not choose to go to other departments, they were asked to move and help. He is glad that they can move on and make this department the best in Broward County. They always want what is best for the community.

Police Chief Ransone thanked the Commission.

Commissioner Douglas said the public had watched this process for a long time. A lot of people have come to him personally. What he viewed as being qualified had to do with qualitative issues. For everyone that would have come forward he would have asked the same questions.

Chief Ransone said through this transition the support of the commission was amazing. Staff was great. There was a lot of learning through this. The community support has been invaluable.

Mayor Ryan said he would.

(B) Events Discussion

Discussion regarding July 4th special event evening entertainment and potential future Jazz Festivals. City Manager Mark Lubelski.

MOTION A motion to discuss Item 16B made by was seconded by Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch was seconded by Commissioner Guzman.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said there are three decision points:

- Have two or three bands for July 4th. Two have been successful in recent years.
- Have an emcee at the July 4th event to hype the crowd. Staff recommends that.
- Types of bands.

Mayor Ryan said he was supportive of two bands. He agreed with an emcee. As for type of music, a cross selection of Latin or reggae and top 40. Mr. Nice Guy can do that.

Commissioner Douglas said there have been some missed opportunities and they have been worked out. When they have the Fourth of July events, and it was over at 9, people leave for the night and it is a missed opportunity. They are recycling the same bands, from Tunes and Trucks then bring that to their premier event. When he first came, they were paying a lot of money for washed up bands. It seemed they have now gone to the bottom of the barrel. It seems that they have to find a better balance and find a better band. He feels it is a wasted opportunity to not engage that large crowd.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto asked what they would try to accomplish by having people stay later.

Mayor Ryan commented that their staff that starts at 6 in the morning on this day.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto commented is the idea that once they stop the music to watch the fireworks, then they are going to start the music again. He asked how much money do they get in sponsorship to pay for this.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said he would have to report back, but most of the expenses are city incurred.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto asked what Mr. Nice Guy's fee was.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said anywhere between $2-$10,000.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto asked who they could get for $40,000 and if he could get a list.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said they spoke with the promoter and asked if they spent $20,000 what would they. The promoter responded the same type of band, but from out of area.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch liked two bands. He agreed with spending a little more. If they need to bump it up to get a name headliner, and he would push for an extra 30 minutes.

Mayor Ryan suggested having staff come back with that.

Commissioner Guzman said Broward County had a few spots for July 4th, and Sunrise was one of the top places to go.

Commissioner Douglas said this was a premiere event, well attended by the public.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said the commission provided a budget for a JazzFest at City Park. The City did a good job of activation at City Park. The had first JazzFest was held a few months ago, and it was not well attended. They promoter suggested the event be held later in the day. One of the things they looked at was to put more time into the marketing, and brand it over a two-month period.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Kerch attended, and it was fantastic, the musicians were great. He agreed maybe later in the day. Marketing was missing, so more time needed to be spent on that. He really loved it and thought there were opportunities to make it a feature, especially with the Art Plaza coming.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said the new brewery would provide their own entertainment.

Mayor Ryan there were promoters that do a specialty in this area.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said this was a city event that they hired a promoter for, they had the experience.

Commissioner Douglas agreed the time should be moved. 2:00 is too early, people are in the middle of errands and it could be hot.

City Manager Mark Lubelski suggested from 2:00 to 7:00 p.m.

Commissioner Guzman said that was still too hot. She would push it back more. The advertisement should have been through the city, that was a disconnect. As she was leaving the park, the security people were not allowing people in with food. She saw someone coming in with McDonalds and they were turned away.

City Manager Mark Lubelski had conversation with promoter that people can bring their own food. This was a turn key event for the promoter. He did not know what they were charging for food trucks.

Deputy Mayor Scuotto said the food trucks have to make money and would not come back if people were bringing in their own food.

Mayor Ryan said this needed to be worked on by staff and brought back.

City Manager Mark Lubelski said one thing they realized was that there had to be 60 days of promotion before the event. They were looking at February and this does not give sufficient time. It would be pushed back to the fall.

Commissioner Douglas commented on the entertainment, the band that was there was good, but there needed to be multiple performers.
