6. Open Discussion

Christine Puntillo came forward to discuss construction on Oakland Park Boulevard and Pine Island Boulevard. The resident wanted to discuss the issues with the construction, and she felt like there was no consideration for the residents in the community. Ms. Puntillo added that the trees, bushes and fences were being knocked down to build, and the building had blocked the sunlight in their yards. In addition, she stated that the workers peered into their homes while working and she felt like there was no privacy. Lastly, she mentioned that her home was rumbling from the construction.

Mayor Ryan asked her to meet with staff regarding the project she was discussing, Broward Health Emergency Room. He added that the entire community knew about the project due to the fact that there have been numerous public hearings about it.

Ms. Puntillo said that she did not know about the construction.

Mayor Ryan asked for her to report any damage that was done due to construction.

Commissioner Scuotto added that it was a free-standing hospital that had gone through an approval process over three years ago.

Greg Burney approached the Commission and spoke about property valuations. He was concerned that the Broward County Property Appraiser (BCPA) was not following Florida Statutes when assessing home values. The data he received was in conflict with the information he received on BCPA.net. He discussed specific data. Most of the homes' assessments were lowered and many areas received increases. He asked if the Commission agreed with the information submitted to him.

Mayor Ryan stated that the City did not set the rates. He thanked him for his comments and hoped he would send the information to the Commission.

7. Commission/Mayor Reports

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman announced that she went to Puerto Rico with the National League of Cities. She would want to put together an application of this kind in the City and would like to look into this for some time in the future.

Commissioner Clarke spoke about the employee appreciation dinner. She thought it was not well attended. She thought more accomplishments should be added and looking at changing the time of the year when the event was held.

Deputy City Manager Emilie Smith stated that 713 people RSVPed.

Deputy Mayor Kerch stated he heard there should be more employee appreciation events than dinner. He would like to discuss this further at a later time.

MOTION A motion to approve Item 10K made by Deputy Mayor Kerch was seconded by Commissioner Scuotto.

Mayor Ryan opened a public hearing. No one came forward to speak.

Mayor Ryan closed the public hearing.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone approached the Commission to discuss the School Zone Safety Program. The data demonstrated that the posted speeds were being ignored during drop off and pick up hours. Chief Ransone gave a presentation. He added that 27,000 drivers exceed the speed limit in a 5-day period. It was systemic and repeatable. He asked the Commission to be proactive. He described the program and data at each school. The data was based on vehicles exceeding 11 mph over the speed limit. The goal of the program was to change behavior and deterrence. He intended to bring a vendor forward to a future meeting.

Mayor Ryan said the backup information was comprehensive.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone stated that many other jurisdictions were implementing the program.

Commissioner Clarke asked what the roll-out process would be.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone intended to begin an informative campaign. The fine would be $100.

Commissioner Clarke asked the range the camera would catch.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone replied that the cameras were focused on the car, not the surrounding area. He wanted the community to be comfortable with the program.

Commissioner Scuotto commented that the red-light camera program was successful in preventing accidents. Sunrise fought the legal fight to keep the cameras. In Orlando at the Florida League of Cities' conference, this was a major topic of discussion. He commented that this would mostly affect Sunrise residents, and he believed this program would help curb the speeding behavior. The rollout time was the City's choice and Sunrise had billboards to advise people. He believed it would be effective. He discussed the issues with Franklin Academy. He wanted to know if there could be a sign placed on Hiatus Road that would alert drivers that they were approaching a school zone.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone replied they were engaged with Franklin Academy and Broward Traffic.

Commissioner Scuotto asked him to explain where the $100 went.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone explained the breakdown of the fine. The program was not about revenue but about reducing speed.

Commissioner Scuotto asked the police to engage with the schools, the PTOs and the PTAs to get the information out about the program to reduce complaints.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman thought that the cameras should be on for the whole day.

Chief Ransone replied that it was up to the Commission to decide what the times would be.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman did not think that the speeders were Sunrise residents. They have complaints about people speeding in school zones. Everyone needed to know the City was safe all of the time.

Deputy Mayor Kerch asked for the warning to be extended. He asked about double jeopardy.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone commented that the Uniform Traffic Citation (UTC) would be for a secondary violation. If there was an instance where someone was given two tickets, there was a process to void one ticket.

Deputy Mayor Kerch asked if he had enough officers to handle the program. Police Chief Daniel Ransone stated that if he needed additional personnel, he would approach the Commission.

Deputy Mayor Kerch asked if he would be able to handle the additional workload.

City Attorney Tom Moss stated that they would be able to absorb the additional work.

Deputy Mayor Kerch asked if there was any ongoing litigation on this program.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone was not aware of any litigation. He commented that the program would be revenue neutral. The ordinance was flexible, so the cameras could be programmed based on the school zone and the decision of the Commission. He stated that the signage would be speed enforced by camera.

Mayor Ryan stated the number of violations was shocking and he felt that this was a program that was necessary. The goal was to change behavior. He had looked at every violation for which he had a complaint, and all were in violation. He noted that there were not enough officers to cover every school zone. The people who pay attention do not like the speeders. There was no excuse for speeding in a school zone. He commented that the City needed to have clear posted notice. The HOAs also needed to be notified. At 5:00 pm, there were still students walking from afterschool activities. The trigger was still 11 mph over the speed limit. He asked if there were findings that needed to be made.

City Attorney Tom Moss stated that all of the required findings and destination of the school zones were stated in the ordinance.

Mayor Ryan thought the implementation could be extended with the goal of changing behavior.

Commissioner Clarke asked who pays if the City goes over 30 days.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone explained it was a per violator cost over 30 days. He thought there would be some flexibility with the vendor.

Commissioner Scuotto asked how fast the program could be rolled out. There were solar operated cameras which were a quicker installation process versus hard wired camera. He asked which system would Sunrise use for this. Some start with solar and move to hard wire later.

MOTION A motion to approve Item 14A made by Deputy Mayor Kerch was seconded by Commissioner Scuotto.

Mayor Ryan opened a public hearing. No one came forward to speak.

Mayor Ryan closed the public hearing.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone commented the agreement would provide ample coverage throughout the entire City.

Mayor Ryan stated these would protect the City by helping solve crime.

Commissioner Clarke was concerned that there were cameras everywhere. She asked how long the plate information would be stored and where. The retention would be 30 days, but 3 years would be the guideline in the case of a criminal infraction. There was no use for the data unless it was for law enforcement purposes.

Commissioner Scuotto stated that Fort Lauderdale and Lauderhill had the first License Plate Readers (LPR). The City did not have any cameras to solve a crime. Sawgrass Mills Mall wanted to pay for LPR to solve the crime on their properties. He thought this was a safety measure. It would benefit the department by solving crime.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone said that the City Commission deserved the credit.

Mayor Ryan stated this had been a long time coming. The community needed to know that justice would be delivered.

Commissioner Clarke stated her issue was privacy. It was problematic when people had access to information. She wanted the residents to know that they were not being targeted.

Mayor Ryan stated that the information would be purged in time.

Deputy Mayor Kerch reviewed the 2024 accomplishments for the City Manager's Office (CMO), the team was successful in economic development opportunities and housing. He added that Mr. Lubelski and his team successfully secured approximately $1 million dollars in grant money. He mentioned that Mr. Lubelski increased diversity in the organization, leads effectively, and implements exceptional programming. He believed his interpersonal skills were exceptional. The City was financially sound. He built respect in the community. He always kept the Commission informed and provided them with adequate information.

Mayor Ryan thanked him for always improving customer service and programming. He added that the residents have been surprised by the level of engagement. He appreciated Mr. Lubelski and his office for always being responsive to residents, staff, and Commission.

Commissioner Clarke asked what Mr. Lubelski what his biggest success in the past year was.

City Manager Mark Lubelski stated the Three Pillars Program.

Special City Commission Meeting
September 15, 2025

Commissioner Clarke thanked him for always following up on the issues in the community. She stated that in government all of the details have to be addressed, and he was able to provide that information back to residents. The fact that he had been able to provide this was excellent. It assisted the Commission when they went back into the community. She thanked him for his work.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman thought Deputy Mayor Kerch was thorough and she appreciated that Commissioner Clarke asked him a question. She noted that while other officials often criticize their City Managers, she had no complaints and appreciated both him and his work.

Commissioner Scuotto said the choice of Deputy City Manager, Emilie, and Assistant City Manager, Sean, demonstrated who he was. In the future, he would need to keep his eye on what was happening with the arena and other projects in the City. They needed to know that he had a succession plan in place. The arena property would be a major development and a turning point. It would become transformational. He wanted to make sure the City Commission was totally informed. He was a visionary, and he had a great team. He wanted him to have the City's best interest in mind.

City Manager Mark Lubelski made two quick comments. The City would be in good hands when he retires. The arena had worked on the land use plan amendment for years and they were almost complete. There were changes with the leadership in the arena and they have been actively in communication with them regarding development. When the time came for the Land Use Planning Authority (LUPA) to make decisions, there would be meetings with the Commission and others. The City and the Commission would have a full seat at the table.

Mayor Ryan asked City Attorney Tom Moss what decisions need to be made based on the contract.

City Attorney Tom Moss said the decision point was 2.5% vs. 5% increase.

MOTION A motion to approve a 2.5% increase for City Manager Mark Lubelski made by Deputy Mayor Kerch was seconded by Commissioner Scuotto. All were in favor.

Mayor Ryan closed the public hearing.

Mayor Ryan added that the Commission had received his report and wanted to ask if he had anything to add.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone thanked the Commission and stated that it had been an honor to lead the Sunrise Police Department and serve the community. Deputy Mayor Kerch believed that decision making, and judgement was consistent. Police Chief Daniel Ransone targeted crime and his guidance was crucial to his decision making. He leads an effective team, he collaborated with the Police Unions, had a constant role in the community, and he had succession planning. He implemented a new IA software. In addition, he engaged with the community as he attended many events in the community. He was what they expected him to be. They had active communication with him that was open. He provided support and backup. He thanked him for his service. He added that he was a key component to the success of the community.

Commissioner Clarke appreciated his flexibility with change. She appreciated the plan of succession and gave other people in the organization better opportunities. She liked it when staff could grow within the organization. She liked the swift movement when things were not going well and felt that his actions to address issues were exemplary. She asked what he thought was the greatest level of development.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone believed that hiring the best and identifying which people would be the best for the department was paramount. He thought that handling politics was the biggest challenge personally and as far as the department standpoint it would be hiring the best people.

Commissioner Clarke asked him what were a few things that he had done that ensure that retention and hiring had been in their favor.

Police Chief Daniel Ransone responded that he implemented to interview all the officers that were at the end of their probationary period and asking for the positives and negatives of the hiring process. The feedback was successful.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman appreciated him being available whenever she called him. She agreed with the other Commissioners as far as his performance. He took comments with grace. She received many calls from the community and would prefer that they come from him first. He shared information and was informative, but when he did not, he needed to be more transparent. She wanted to know about it upfront. Overall, she was happy with his performance. There was no negative commentary in the public and she appreciated him.

Commissioner Scuotto stated he called him "Little Brooks". Chief Ransone hired someone from the outside, but it was a great move. He picked members from within the police department to be part of his command staff, such as Major Bates, Lebel, Reardon, Loor, and others. He thought he was courageous that he brought the LPRs and the school zone speed cameras. He thought his judgement was impeccable.

Mayor Ryan commented that the seriousness of the position was unknown until that was undertaken. The decision to hire Deputy Chief Swisher was bold and correct. He stood up to state what the City needed even when he knew there would be opposition. The position was difficult, and he met and maintained the standards. He had made hard decisions within the police department. It was difficult to hire qualified law enforcement officers in the current environment. The process over the last year had made him confident but not callous. He would call him to inform him about situations but not ask for directions. He had risen to the challenge and asked him to continue doing what he was doing today.

MOTION A motion to approve a 2.5% increase for Police Chief Daniel Ransone made by Deputy Mayor Kerch was seconded by Commissioner Scuotto. All were in favor.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman mentioned that there had been some difficult encounters and some differences but had had a great experience with her this recent year. She had taken the correct steps for her staff and team. She thanked her for everything and was looking forward to what was to come.

Commissioner Scuotto commented that he hired her 24 years ago. At that time everything was handwritten during that time and nothing was computerized. He mentioned that he was in another state, and was asked by another city clerk about her, which shows how well-known Ms. Bravo was due to her great work. Also, a few weeks ago at the Florida League of Cities an attendee mentioned her as well, so this was a great representation. The Commission had supported her in obtaining the help she needed. He was looking forward to the museum being completed in a couple of months and the funds would be provided to make the project flourish.

Mayor Ryan thanked her for her steadfast advocacy on behalf of the City during numerous challenging times. Despite the complexity of her role, she had never backed down. Her meticulous recordkeeping had been especially commendable, given the significant legal implications involved. He continues to express his strong objection to her retirement, recognizing the invaluable contributions she has made.

City Attorney Tom Moss stated that her pay was at the top of the City Clerk pay range; therefore, an amendment to the ordinance would have to be made or a resolution to add multiple steps.

He added that Fire Chief John McNamara had hired the most firefighters during his tenure as Fire Chief than any other Sunrise Fire Chief. He mentioned that he has increased diversity in the Fire Department and hires the best of the best and does not compromise. He read more of his achievements, such as having active community programs within the Fire Department and being involved in community events. He stated that he was working on personal professional growth and that it was exceptional to show his staff that sky was the limit.

Commissioner Clarke stated that what she likes about the Fire Department was that they were very active in the community. She had received positive feedback from the residents. She asked him the following: what was one new project in the upcoming year and how could they improve community engagement.

Fire Chief John McNamara responded to her first question that even though the Fire Department had a succession plan that had set timelines on when a firefighter could be promoted, criteria and testing information. He mentioned that he would have an in-person leadership program where they would meet one to two times a month with other personnel that would count towards continuing education credits and better prepare for promotions. In response to her second question he was committing to make this aspect better and going to parks and doing community outreach and the new fire truck would be used towards this goal. He wants to improve social media presence.

Assistant Deputy Mayor Guzman commented that she did not have anything negative to say and believes they were heroes in our community. She wanted to know if they could work with the Police Department and attend some of their events. He mentioned that the Police and Fire collaborate very well and would continue to work with Police Chief Daniel Ransone.

Commissioner Scuotto stated that he had seen how he had grown with the Fire Department. He worked with the City very well. He commented that there were many more residential projects in the City and wanted to know where he saw the Fire Department in a few years. Fire Chief John McNamara responded that he had been very analytical with the resources that were needed. They have increased the amount of personnel and added different operational services, but they have not added a Fire Station since 1990. He feels that their needs to be an evaluation on obtaining a new fire station to adjust to the increase of population in the City.

Commissioner Scuotto asked Fire Chief John McNamara about the different hours of operation for a firefighter. He responded that during his career it had always been a set schedule, but due to mental health there was a different demand today. There needs to be discussions in Broward County about this topic. He explained that many fire departments have already reduced the amount of hours for firefighters, such as in Palm Beach. This would be something to look at during the bargaining agreement.

Commissioner Scuotto wanted to see the Fire Department have their own community outreach programs and events.

Mayor Ryan appreciates Fire Chief John McNamara and his analytical approach in improving the Fire Rescue Services. He added that he values his input and analysis for future projects.

Commissioner Scuotto asked how many fire department personnel were topped out.

Fire Chief John McNamara said quite a few were probably topped out.

Commissioner Scuotto asked how many were topped out. He wanted to know the number of people who were topped out and whether it was due to longevity or the DROP.
